

"As to the apathy of the American Doofus, the wealth of our generation makes action expensive. Think of what we stand to lose. A 2500 square foot house. Central heat. Central air. Two brand new SUV's. Two bathrooms, both of them inside the house. TV. Xbox. Just pay some tax money and elect an official who will hire a gunman to protect you. And die a long slow death in front of the TV while watching "reality".

I always thought the first target we shoot at an Appleseed Show should be a television. That is a much more dangerous enemy than the Redcoats ever were." The Guy
