When marksmanship met history, and the heritage began...

Project Appleseed

A unique opportunity for the whole family.

The Appleseed Project is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization dedicated to history, heritage and marksmanship. We hold family friendly two-day events for all ages that teach the uniquely American skills of marksmanship as a gateway into the history and heritage of our ancestors and the living history they have passed down to us.

We teach the fundamentals of rifle marksmanship, starting out Saturday morning with a safety briefing. Throughout the day you will learn rock solid shooting positions, using a sling for support, Natural Point of Aim, 6 steps to firing a shot, shot analysis, and how zero your rifle. By the end of the two days, you and your family will be able to safely handle your rifles and learn the skills of the Rifleman.

The core of The Appleseed Project is heritage. Rifle skills are becoming a lost art in modern America, but we feel that they are as important today as they were on April 19, 1775 when the first shots were fired on Lexington Green. The Appleseed Project's mission is to educate everyone about the difficult choices and heroic actions that our great founders made on behalf of us, their "posterity".

We would like to invite you to come out and participate in the Appleseed Project. Enjoy learning new skills, meeting new people and hearing stories of our heritage that have been lost or taken out of textbooks.
