Bow Hunters in Ames Ikes Park

Matt Graesch

This will be the third year for the Ames Ikes Bowhunt. In the first two years there have been more than 10 deer harvested from the Ikes' property. With an emphasis on population control, all but 2 have been does.

This year there will be 4-5 bow hunters using the park. All hunters are current Ikes members and have fulfilled the Iowa Hunter Safety Course as well as an elective Bowhunter Safety Course. All are experienced hunters and are following a standard procedure outlined and approved by the Ames Ikes board to ensure the total safety of the hunters and all others using the park.

The hunters will be using the park from October 1 until December 5 and again from December 21 until January 10, in accordance with the regular statewide bow hunting season. The hunters will almost always be in stand either at daybreak or at sundown and will not in any way interfere with regular park activities.

The Ames Ikes Bowhunt is open to any active members with the proper certification (hunter safety and bowhunter safety courses). Please contact Matt Graesch, mgraesch@mchsi.com prior to the season for more information. Following sign-up, Matt divides the Ikes park into sections and there is a draw to assign places to hunt.

Project Appleseed is a project of the Revolutionary War Veterans Association.

Appleseed Clinic held at Ames Ikes

On April 18 & 19, 2009 an Appleseed clinic was held at the Ames Ikes Rifle and Pistol Ranges. Appleseed instructors taught marksmanship techniques using standing, sitting, and prone positions, coupled with discussions on the historical significance of the American Rifleman tradition, focusing on the accounts of the Battles of Lexington and Concord of April 18 & 19, 1775.

Most attendees had previous shooting experience, but had never learned proper technique. Two main shooting fundamentals were taught: "Six Steps to Firing a Shot" and "Natural Point of Aim" (NPOA). The shooter must achieve a relaxed natural state that when done correctly requires no forced muscle control to hold the rifle on target. If sight adjustment is necessary, the NPOA shooter pivots his or her whole body. In short, don't muscle the shot!

After learning the basics (including safe gun handling and range safety measures), attendees applied their new found skills on more complex courses of fire. This latter requirement used an Appleseed version of the Army Qualification Test that simulates 100, 200, 300 and 400-yard distances at 25 yards.

Cort Pahl, a participant noted, "I had a great time at this clinic. It's events like these that make the shooting sports really addictive and enjoyable. I really like the approach the Appleseed Project takes to introduce folks to this uniquely American skill. Teach the correct basics, practice and then challenge. And best of all, Appleseed clinics are really 'newbie' friendly."

We would like to hear more about how you and your family use and enjoy the Ames Ikes Park. To share your stories please contact Drake Larsen at, dlarsen@iastate.edu

Dale Brentnall Honored

Palmer Holden

Dale Brentnall was honored (and surprised) at the September 8 board meeting with an ice cream cake to celebrate his 90th birthday. Dale is a past president of the Ames Chapter of Izaak Walton and a past national president.

ISU Grad Student Receives McNurlen Award

Marv Scott

Anthony Sindt, a Masters Degree student at Iowa State University majoring in Natural Resource Ecology and Management, received the Dr. Keith

McNurlen Memorial Award. Dr. McNurlen was an Ames dentist, avid fisherman and a past president of the Ames Ikes and this scholarship is endowed in his name. The award recognizes a graduate student with an interest in fisheries and wildlife ecology in Iowa. The award was presented at the state convention in Ottumwa by Dale Brentnall, a member of the Ames Chapter of the Izaak

Walton League of American and a past national president of the IWLA.

Sindt's research objectives are to (1) refine Iowa's prioritization of stream fish, (2) better understand the occurrence and distribution of priority fish species in greatest need of conservation in Iowa's Wadeable streams, and (3) test the potential of an aquatic analysis to predict the occurrence of priority fish in Iowa.

Ames Ikes' Chapter House— Rental Information

Palmer Holden

The Ames Izaak Walton League has many facilities for the use of our members and others. This month I'd like to highlight our chapter house. It is located in our park and has a very nice meeting room that is used for our board meetings, other chapter activities such as Hunters' Education and Scout meetings; and is available for activities such as group meetings, seminars, receptions, etc. There are conference tables and chairs for about 80 people.

You will be impressed when you enter the chapter house by the many wild animal mounts that were donated many years ago. In addition to the meeting room there is a functioning kitchen and restrooms, including one that is handicapped accessible. The chapter house is both heated and air-conditioned. Alcoholic beverages are not permitted.

Rental for Ikes' member activities is $10/hour with a $40 minimum. Scouts and other youth conservation activities, etc, may use the chapter house at no cost. The current rental fee for other users is $20/hour with a $100 minimum. A $50 deposit may be required for clean-up. The $50 will be returned if the chapter house is cleaned satisfactorily.

Tom Manatt Family Makes Donation

Palmer Holden

The family of long time Ikes member Tom Manatt were the guests for a dedication ceremony opening the rebuilt trap ranges at Izaak Walton Park last July during the opening events of the Iowa Games. The project was funded with a donation from the Manatt family in memory of Tom, who passed away in 2005.

Chapter President Palmer Holden spoke to thank the Manatt family, and the businesses that made in-kind donations that completed the project: Manatt's Inc, Nevada Monument, Country Landscapes and ATCO Enterprises.

The trap houses were replaced with poured concrete, new electrical, a new shooting pad installed behind the doubles trap field and draining/grading work was done to ease mowing and maintenance.

A magical moment occurred as Linda Manatt, Tom's wife, called for the first bird on the new range, and solidly broke the clay.

Volunteering Success

The Board Meetings held each Tuesday will now be held at 6:15pm on the second Tuesday of each month. Please make note of this change and we hope to see you there

It takes a lot of effort to keep the Ames Izaak Walton League facilities and activities organized and running smoothly. It couldn't be done without a dedicated board and group of volunteers. If you have a set of special skills (from woodworking to typesetting) or just bit of spare time, we'd appreciate your help.
