We're About History, Heritage and Tradition!

Welcome to one of the fastest growing programs in the nation Project Appleseed!

In a time when many people think this country is heading down the wrong road, the volunteers of the Revolutionary War Veterans Association are working to turn things around by educating Americans in the things they need to know to understand how this country got its start.

We're betting, once you know it, once you hear the Story of April 19th, 1775, the 'story you never heard in school', once you understand the sacrifices made that day by people much like us, you will not want to see those efforts go to naught.

It's the history of men and women who cared about their liberty and cared about ours. Cared to the extent they were willing to face death, injury, impoverishment.

Cared enough, many of them, to set ordinary concerns in their life aside for the eight long bloody years it took to convince the British we were serious about winning our freedom.

The Appleseed Project

The Appleseed Program is designed to take you from being a simple rifle owner to being a true rifleman. An American tradition, the rifleman has been defined as a marksman capable of hitting a mansized target from 500 yards away no ifs, ands or buts about it. Marksmanship skill (albeit with smoothbore muskets) was particularly evident in the Revolutionary War, and was the difference in winning the right from the first day.

So why me? This country was founded and won by riflemen who fought and beat British forces. We invite all interested Americans to learn the traditional American skill necessary to shoot proficiently; and then hope you'll participate in teaching and practicing with others so that together we can save this great land. Why you? Well, that's simple: if you're at this we're betting you're a person concerned about the future of his country, and we hope you answer the call.
